The Wrong Briefcase

The bald man was angry. He shouted loudly at the robbers. The robbers got the wrong briefcase. They planned to get the right briefcase. They felt sorry and disappointed.

At the police station, a policeman looked at the photos. He looked at the photos because he wanted to catch the robbers. He felt angry and excited because he wanted to catch the robbers and win the prize money.

Two weeks later, the robbers robbed a bank. They pointed a gun at the bank teller. The bank teller felt scared. She raised her hands up and said 'Please don't kill me!'

After getting the money, the robbers ran back to the van. The policeman followed the van to go to the robbers' place, and caught the robbers and the bald man.
